

REFERENCES:

- ➔ Problem while scanning character in C: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/5109512/problem-in-scanning-character-in-c>
- ➔ Format '%s' expects argument of type 'char*': <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/10732010/format-s-expects-argument-of-type-char>
- ➔ How to convert a string into a character in C: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/867979/how-to-convert-a-string-to-character-array-in-c-or-how-to-extract-a-single-char>
- ➔ Disabling warning messages using header files: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/1214365/disable-warning-messages-in-gcc-through-header-files> <https://github.com/chenyukang/CodeSnippet/blob/master/geeksforgeeks/print-postorder-from-given-inorder-and-preorder-traversals.c#L26>
- ➔ Variable warning set but not used: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/23998283/variable-warning-set-but-not-used>
- ➔ Casting Problem: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/20218930/casting-int-to-char>
- ➔ Removing Trailing newline character from fgets() input: <http://stackoverflow.com/questions/2693776/removing-trailing-newline-character-from-fgets-input>
- ➔ Online C code compiler and executer: <https://www.codechef.com/ide>